DIBBONS, TRIMMINGS, &c., FOR NOTHING.—IT IS A a positive fact, that LICHTSNSTEIN, No. 30 Bowery, corner of Hester street, is selling off his great stock of dress trimmings, head dresses, ribbons, &c., at a most extraordinary sacrifice. He imported, himself, early in the season, as smount and variety wholly unsurpassed before in New York his sales have been astonishingly heavy, because he sold goods that could not be paralleled for beauty and quality, and because he sold at a small profil. He has still, however, a great stock on hand, and as constant novelty is his leading principle in business, he prefers to sell at less tian cost, in order to close the entire concers, and open with new goods, rather than keep them on hand till trey become stale. He is now actually selling ladies' dress frimmings on that account, for one rhilling per yard, that cost in Europe three frances, or nearly sixty cents, to purchase. His embellishments for evering dresses, pis hair ornaments, his ribbons, &c., are being all sold on the same capital terms for the public. Lichten stein is the orly dealer who will work for nothing, rather than keep an of stock on hand. Fow is the time, then, for bargains. Never were such goods sold at suce prices before.

BILLIARD BALLS.-100 SETS BILLIARD BALLS, AS sorted sizes, and 20 000 French cue ups, first quality. For sale by WM. M. WELLING, 430 Broome sireet. OLD FOGYDOM IN A FLUTTEE.—A CARD IN THE Herald of yesterday, purporting to come from A. Bassford, questions the o, inion of the Scientific American in favor of my combination cushions over the tube or wind y ones; it also says:—'I have tables with this pretended new invention twenty-two years old.' Unfortunately for Mr. Bassford's disinterested opinion, the best gentlemen players in the country comickle with the Scientific American respecting the superiority of my cembination cushions and model tables. I will make the following proposition if he wishes to prove his assertions.—I will bet $100 the above quitation is not true; $100 that he camimprovements; $100 that he, or any manufacturers, except.
O'Consor' & Collender, ever made a cushion compessed of the same materials; and $100 that no other manufacturer can produce a cushion to give varies as true and correct as my combination cushions. MIOHEAL PHELAN 39 Chambers st.
